

RHODE ISLAND FAMILY COURT

ADMINISTRATIVE ORDER 92-4

The Formula Based Child Support Guidelines, Administrative Order #88-8, have been amended.

The amended Guidelines are attached hereto and become effective October 15, 1992.

10/1/92
Date

Jeremiah S. Jeremiah, Jr.
Chief Judge

The revised Schedule of Basic Child Support Obligations incorporates the following:

1. 1992 Federal Income Tax rates
2. 1992 Rhode Island State Income Tax rates
3. 1992 Federal Social Security and Medicare rates (7.65% of income up to $55,500 per year, plus 1.45% of income up to $130,200 per year)
4. 1992 Federal Earned Income Tax Credit
5. Increases the self-support reserve for a payor from $481 per month to $552 per month (the Federal poverty standard for one person in 1991)
6. The tables have been extended to compute child support obligations for income up to $180,000 per year ($15,000 per month). This is the highest level of income for which Policy Studies, Inc. could develop child support obligation tables in light of the available and empirical data relating to household expenditure patterns available to Policy Studies, Inc.
7. The economic data used by Policy Studies, Inc. to develop these tables has been adjusted by the consumer price index through August, 1991.

In addition to the Schedule of Basic Child Support Obligations, Policy Studies, Inc. has provided us with the enclosed conversion tables which can be used by judges and attorneys to convert net income to gross income before using the child support guideline tables. This can prove helpful in situations where Family Court Judges "gross" such non-taxable benefits as Workers' Compensation before referring to the tables to establish the amount of support order. It also can be helpful in those situations where an individual testifies as to his or her take home pay, but does not know the gross pay. These conversion tables can be made available to the court and the bar for informal use, or the court may consider only formally adopting these conversion tables with the guidelines as part of an Administrative Order.
