38 Studios documents set for release today

September 24, 2015: In the matter of the Rhode Island Economic Development Corporation v. Well Fargo Securities, et al., the so-called 38 Studios lawsuit (Case No. PB-2012-5616), previously sealed documents in the court file, as well as depositions that are not part of the court file, will be released to the public at 3:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 24, 2015.

Initially, the documents will be available on DVDs to be handed out at that time by the Superior Court in the Administrator's Office, Room 506, on the fifth floor of the Licht Judicial Complex in Providence. The Judiciary expects to have a sufficient number of discs for media outlets and the public at the time of initial distribution. More copies may be produced if the demand warrants. However, shortly after the initial distribution of discs, the files will be posted on the Internet at a time and web address to be announced.

Each disc will be divided into two main folders. The depositions, which are not part of the court record, contain more than 1,300 files in 66 folders. The deposition files include transcripts and exhibits. The unsealed court records include 242 files. Some of the unsealed court records will be related to motions that are already part of the public record. Those public motions will not be included with the documents released today. Files that were already part of the public record in the case are available for viewing at public computers at Superior Court clerk counters in each county courthouse.
