From the Rhode Island Judiciary

‘Art in the Courthouse’ returns to Wakefield

November 16, 2018: The Rhode Island Judiciary announces a photography exhibit opening Monday, November 19, 2018. Sponsored by the Narragansett Historical Society, the exhibit commemorates the 80th anniversary of The Great Hurricane of 1938.

An arrangement of original vintage photographs of the hurricane will be at the J. Howard McGrath Judicial Complex (Washington County Courthouse), 4800 Tower Hill Road, located behind the Department of Motor Vehicles, in Wakefield.

Open for viewing Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., the exhibit runs until February 28, 2019.

The exhibit is part of the series “Art in the Courthouse” which occurs annually at the McGrath Judicial Complex.
