In re: Provisional Article X of the Supreme :
Court Rules Governing Electronic Filing :

ORDER

The attached amendments to Provisional Article X of the Supreme Court Rules Governing Electronic Filing (Article X) are hereby adopted.

Article X will continue to be open for public comment until further order of the Court so that attorneys and the public can provide additional comment after having the opportunity to use the electronic filing system in conjunction with the new rules. Article X will remain available for viewing in the Supreme Court Clerk’s Office and on the Rhode Island Judiciary’s website at www.courts.ri.gov by clicking on the heading of Court Rules – Public Comment under the Self-help Center box on the home page.

Any person interested in offering comment to Article X may do so in writing by submitting memoranda to the Clerk of the Supreme Court until further order of the Court.

Entered as an Order of this Court this 31st day of October 2014.
